2024 EAMHID Price for outstanding article / book chapter

The EAMHID is establishing new prizes for contributions to increase knowledge about mental health issues for people with intellectual disabilities. The works should be in English language, and published prior to application for the prizes.

The article and book prizes will be announced every second year from the year 2024.

Applications for the articles or book prizes should be sent directly to Trine Lise Bakken by email:

uxt1ba@ous-hf.no Applications should be submitted at the latest by October 1. 2024.

The price committee rates articles or book chapters on the basis of:

- Value of findings / content for supporting better mental health in persons with intellectual disabilities - potential or demonstrated impact on the field, response from clients, professionals, policy makers, public.
- Presentation - well-written
- Participation of people with intellectual disabilities and / or their families, if possible
- Impact for persons with intellectual disabilities is clearly emphasized

All correspondence regarding the nominations should be directed to Trine Lise Bakken (uxt1ba@ous-hf.no / phone +47 41531160).

The price winners will be announced on the Association website eamhid.eu

In addition to the price certificate, the winner will be offered two years free EAMHID membership.
